Dear Bruce Green,

My name is Aidan Dolan. I am writing to you you as i have seen the position of production editor on your website and I want to display my interest in the role. I have a great interest in film production and creativity want to further my knowledge upon, whilst gaining friends and enjoyable experiences.

I am a student currently studying at SAE institute, where I am learning the skills of creative filmmaking along with how to effectively edit video in order to make successful film. Along with this my experience on customer service at Tesco has given me a great insight into personal relations and problem solving. I want to further my knowledge and love for video editing which is why i feel this role will allow me to develop.

I am applying to this job as I love traveling the world and working abroad, especially in America. I have been watching the content of Rooster Teeth for over ten years and have watched your content since the start of the Funhaus branch, so to be given the chance to work for something you love is a once in a lifetime opportunity for me. I also feel the videos you make tailors to my humor which I would love to mix with my passion for editing to make new and exciting content that is fun to make. I look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards,

Aidan Dolan
